Program manager

ENAI
A safe and comfortable life

For professional service providers, we are happy to be the knowledge partner in continuity with solutions without having to worry about anything. We ensure that our customers can fully focus on their services. And in the background, we like to ensure that all information & systems are always available in a secure manner.

We supply the ENAI service platform for managed services. Our solutions are currently often used by professional service providers in the security industry.

We always see opportunities in connecting, interpreting and/or presenting information sources, making it possible for professional service providers to act not only reactively, but also proactively on valuable information.

With you, things get better! Will you join our team?
We are looking for a program manager. Someone within ENAI:

- oversees how the various sub-projects come together in line with the organizational objective and the customer agreements.
- Is able to correctly categorize and prioritize the various sub-projects and knows how to translate this into planning and resource allocation.
- The team of project leaders manages and supports the execution of the sub-projects.
- Has a total project overview and monitors progress and project risks.
- Knows how to connect and enthuse stakeholders.
- Can easily switch between experienced and driven IT colleagues on the one hand and committed ones on the other customers with their own priorities.
